1. Investable Universe

The fund has the flexibility to allocate its capital globally in various currencies, primarily focusing on growth funds and shares related to the Fourth Industrial Revolution that exhibit significant intrinsic value but may also experience significant price fluctuations.

2. Primary Objective

The primary objective of this investment strategy is to generate exceptional capital appreciation, with a target range of 15% to 20%. While it is possible to achieve these returns over the short term, the focus is on delivering sustained growth over the medium to longer term, with a standard deviation of less than 20%. As market timing is not a key consideration, investors should view this fund as a buy-and-hold opportunity for a minimum of 3 to 5 years, and potentially longer.

3. Investor Profile

This investment opportunity is best suited for investors who are seeking to diversify their portfolio and are comfortable with the inherent volatility in the value of their investments. Investors should have a time horizon of at least three to five years, or potentially longer and have no income requirements from the fund.

4. Managers Comment

Review: The fund returned -1.19% for the month while the MSCI World Index returned -2.86% over the same period.

Outlook: For more information, visit www.kanaantrust.com.

We anticipate that the Federal Reserve will maintain high interest rates for longer than currently expected by US markets, leading to greater-than-usual volatility. We expect the first interest rate cuts in the US towards the end of 2024 or when the US economy shows signs of weakening in its labour market. Owing to the strong US labour market, the Federal Reserve might be tempted to keep interest rates high for too long, which could result in significant market corrections. Given that the fund currently holds 25% in cash, it will be well-positioned to capitalise on any corrections should they occur.
